A new cure has been found for balking horses. It is simple, being only the application of electricity. The electric battery is placed in the carriage and wires attached to the horse's bit and crupper. When the horse balks the electric current is turned on and the horse is cured.

Miss Howard, the American female physician in China, now treating the wife of the great Viceroy, is besieged by ladies of wealthy families, "who would rather die than be treated by a foreign male physician." Her success is but one indication of the need of female physicians in the far East.

Mrs Langtry says she has offers of engagements from all parts of the country, and she proposes to return to America this fall. She will remain in New York two weeks, play in Philadelphia and Connecticut four weeks, and after visiting some of the watering places, sail for Liverpool about the middle of July.

The projectors of the new Congregational paper have formed a combination with the Christian Union, and will not establish a paper. The capital subscribed will now be put into the Christian Union, and the latter will be enlarged and will have a Boston as well as a New York office. Dr. Lyman Abbott will continue to be editor-in-chief.

The Charleston Courier says the Graniteville manufacturing Company, which owns and operates two cotton mills in Aiken county, South Carolina, during the year ending March 1, 1883, made nearly 21 per cent. net on its capital of $600,000 after paying all necessary expenses and $21,000 interest. During the year $60 000 was paid out in dividends and $69,125 invested in permanent improvements.

The Toronto Globe estimates that the Province of Ontario has lost 100,000 of its population by emigration during the last four years, and that 70,000 of that number went to the United States. These departures have been offset by immigration, but instead of a gain of 160,000 which should have been ... in the four years, the ... [illegible]

A Chicago exchange says the largest number of emigrants ever brought into Chicago during a single day and over one line was that of the 20th, 2,000 European newcomers arriving over the Baltimore & Ohio road. Emigrants are now arriving in Chicago at the rate of about 40 carloads per day. Nearly all are bound for the great Northwest.

During the past week or two, 20 or 30 passenger conductors on the Pennsylvanian system of railroads have been summarily discharged for dishonest practices, discovered through "spotters," and their places filled by freight conductors, and as a result, there is considerable uneasiness felt among other ticket takers, who know not how soon their turn may come.

So Oscar, the æsthete has fallen from grace, and now is "not even early English." At least, so says the Whitehall Review. It announces that on retiring to Paris, he has forsworn æstheticism and abandoned the garments of Bunthorne in favor of the attire of the Parisian "mashers." Can it, indeed, be that he has worked the æsthetic racket for all it is worth?

Maj John M. Crowell, United States postoffice Inspector, at Atchinson, Kan., has arrested James, Thomas and Edward Barlow, the desperadoes who robbed the the Normanville postoffice and shot the wife of Postmaster Normille, who is now dead. A despatch from Escanaba, Michigan, states that the heavy rains and melting snow have caused a flood in the Manistique river, and at this place and at Jamestown, three miles above, the people are suffering greatly. The water in the streets is nine feet deep in some places, and the people are living in the upper stories of their houses. The principal losers are the Delta Lumber Company, Pearson & Co., and the Chicago Lumber Company, whose losses aggregate $500,000.

One of Lady Florence Dixie's eccentricities was, a few years ago when living in the Highlands, to dress in the veritable "garb of Old Gaul." A photograph of her, taken in 1878, represents her standing by a tree, gun in hand, and some dead grouse lying at her feet. She wears a kilt of ordinary length, of gray tweed, a jacket of the same material, and a light vest. Her bonnet is of Highland pattern, with a stag's head crest in the left side of it, and her hair is cut short. Altogether her appearance is that of a stalwart young Highland hunter.

Two English sailors went ashore with their parrot in a Japanese port to see one the famous jugglers. At every trick one of the sailors would say "Now, wasn't that clever? Wonder what he'll do next?" After a large number of tricks, followed each time by the same remark, the juggler made a mistake and dropped a burning stick on a pile of fireworks. The bombs and crackers exploded, tore off a part of the thatched roof, dispersed the audience and scorched the parrot's tail feathers. The explosion was hardly over when the parrot called out "Now, wasn't that clever? Wonder what he'll do next?"

From the annual report of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad for the year ending Dec 31, it appears that the gross earnings for the year were $20,386,725 86, gross expenses $12,186 073 21 making the net earnings $8,200,652 65. The gross earnings show an increase over those of 1881 of $3 361 261,20, and the operating expenses an increase of $1,868,142 07. The increase in the net earnings was $1 493,122 13. In the matter of freight and passenger statistics, there is also a gratifying exhibit. The lines of the company have been extended in many directions and augmented by the purchase of several roads.

His Honor Mayor Palmer is not deficient in gallantry. At the Brunswick luncheon to which he was invited by H. R. H. the Princess Louise, and the Marquis of Lorne, he was chatting away quite briskly with the royal lady, when the coffee being served, she absent mindedly dropped sugar and added cream to the cup placed by the waiter for his Honor's refreshment. "This is your Highness's coffee," said the distressed waiter, perceiving the misappropriation, and pointing her to her own cup. The Princess asked his Honor's pardon, and suggested a fresh cup. This was the Mayor's opportunity. "I beg you will not call for another cup," said he, "I much prefer the cup you have fixed, it is my first cup of coffee straight from the throne, and probably will be my last."

NEUTRALITY VIOLATED

OFFICERS OF THE STEAMER TROPIC ARRESTED FOR AIDING HAYTIEN INSURGENTS

On the arrival of the steamer Tropic at Philadelphia from San Antonio, Jamaica, information was laid by three of her seamen—Patrick Gemmill, Jacob Johnson and Richard Pahl—that the vessel, commanded by Captain A. C. Rand, with Thomas Pender as first mate and Willis Rand, second mate, had been employed by the Haytien insurgents to convey arms, ammunition and uniforms to Haiti, in violation of the neutrality laws, and to convey insurgent troops headed by General Bazelais, from Inagua to Miragoane on the occasion of the capture of that place by the insurgents on the 27th of last March. Captain Rand and the two mates were arrested and given a hearing. The Captain was placed under $5000 and Pender $3000 bail to answer at the next term of the District Court. They furnished the necessary surety. The second mate was discharged.

THE DETAILS OF THE STEAMER'S OFFENCE

It is alleged that 500 rifles from Springfield were taken on board the Tropic while she was undergoing repairs at the works of Neafie & Levy on the Delaware, that 1,000 000 rounds of cartridges, two field pieces, saddles and uniforms, were placed on board on the 16th of March, although the officers reported to the authorities that the vessel was going out in ballast. Upon reaching Inagua the Tropic took on board fifty passengers, who were insurgents preparing to overthrow the government of Hayti. Outside of the bay the Tropic hove to until an Atlas line steamer from Kingston for New York arrived with eighty additional insurgents on board. The captain of the Atlas steamer refused to allow his passengers to board the Tropic directly but landed them at Inagua. There they remained for a day, under watch of an English man-of-war.

Finally a small schooner was procured by those remaining at Inagua and they soon reached the Tropic, which then steamed away to Miragoane the deck of the vessel being used for drilling purposes. At midnight of March 26 the Tropic entered the harbor and put off sixty armed men in boats, who after firing one round captured the town. On the following morning the arms and equipments were put on shore, and by noon, all the cargo having been landed, she sailed away to Port Antonio for a cargo of fruit.

Whig & Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1883.

The Brooklyn Eagle, which has a good deal of political sagacity and a good political memory, so to speak, says that "the Ohio Democracy is full of confidence, full of enthusiasm, and of that pride which goeth before a fall."

Secretary Frelinghuysen has prepared a reply to Lord Granville's communication on the subject of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, which diplomatic courtesy prevents him from making public until it shall have been received by Lord Granville.

An exchange remarks: They have been having a gentle zephyr out in Utah. Two trains of cars were blown off the track, and another standing at Ogden was blown over. Travelers to Montana must have made up their minds that this is not a very gentle spring.

The Philadelphia Times (Ind. Dem.) and one of the earnest supporters of Governor Pattison and the young Democracy last fall, now declares that Mr. Pattison is so much of a failure that the young Democrats will return to their old leaders and take orders from them.

We publish in another column to-day a timely article from the pen of Hon. A. G. Lebroke, of Foxcroft, effectively disposing of some current and flippant criticisms upon the praiseworthy legislation of 1883 to prevent cruelty to animals. As a leading Senator and a lawyer of great ability Mr. Lebroke is well qualified to vindicate the provisions of the law.

Andrew Mason, of the United States Assay Office, in New York, has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Superintendent Van Wyck. It is understood that several other persons were suggested to the President for the appointment; but that he did not seriously consider the name of any other candidate than Mr. Mason, whose promotion he regarded as in strict consonance with the principles of Civil Service Reform. The President has also appointed Charles P. Williams, of New York, to be Consul of the United States at Rouen.

It will be some time yet before the full reports of the devastation occasioned by the late terrible tornado in the West and South will enable us to realize the damage done to property and life. When it is said that the destruction embraced the States of Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama, the extent of territory involved is something paralyzing. Of course the cyclone was confined to a narrow strip of country in each State, but its force and destructiveness within its natural boundaries were as disastrous as they were irresistible.

The New York Tribune has collected reports from all parts of the Union, of the prospects of the wheat crop for the present year. Its conclusion is that the predictions, made a month ago, of a short crop, are not well grounded, and the indications are that the crop of wheat for the present year will be a slight advance over an average yield. The reports of damage from the severe cold prove to have been unfounded in nearly all cases. Warm, genial weather of the past few weeks has turned the brown fields green, and thus dispelled the gloomy forebodings which were rife.

A party engaged in making surveys and archæological investigations in North Carolina under the direction of the Bureau of Ethnology has just discovered near Mount Pisgah in that State two prehistoric aboriginal mounds containing an unusually rich and valuable collection of polished stone axes, celts and other Indian implements. The mounds had apparently served as burial places and also contained remains of human bodies. The collection of implements, which constitutes one of the richest and most valuable "finds" recently made in the Eastern States, will be brought to Washington and added to the collection in the National Museum.

The fight against Randall's election to the Speakership, says the Tribune, still rages in the Democratic papers. His success is pronounced to be the chief danger which now menaces the party. If he is elected the friends of protection will triumph, and all the labors of the free trade shouters will count for nothing. They recognize this and hence their palpitation. The coolest and apparently the most unconcerned man in the contest is Mr. Randall himself. He doesn't run about the country explaining his chances to every man on the street corners, as Mr. Cox does and uses none of his energies in spattering his opponents with mud. He just keeps on burrowing.

The new bridge, which is to be built over the river Forth in Scotland, will, when it shall have been completed, be the largest structure of the kind in the world. Its length will be 5 330 feet,—fifty feet over a mile. It is to have two spans on land of 680 feet each, with piers that will take up 145 feet and 260 feet respectively. It will have two spans in the water of 1,700 feet each, and these immense spans are necessitated by the depth of the water, which is over 200 feet, preventing immediate support. The central pier has its foundation on an island, and were it not for this the construction of the bridge would prove an impracticability. The underside of the bridge will be one hundred and fifty feet above high water. In its construction steel alone is to be used, and of this 42,000 tons alone are to be consumed in the erection of the centre arches.

A Washington special says: Mr. Condon, the ex-Fenian Treasury employe, who approved the dynamite plots in a newspaper interview the other day, is apparently disturbed at the position in which he has placed himself, and is frequently making denials that he justified the use of dynamite. The interview was printed the morning following the news of the dynamite explosion, and was opened with this question: "What do you think of the exciting news from England in regard to the alleged Fenian plots?" The answer, after some verbiage, was that the Irish people "are turning their attention to the only means left to bring their persecutors to terms." Talk about "force," "retaliation" etc., followed. If this did not mean dynamite it would be hard to say what it did mean. The probability is, however, that Condon has learned a lesson, and may be trusted to keep his views on dynamite to himself hereafter.

THE ACT FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY SOME FLIPPANT CRITICISM OF THE LAW OF 1883 DISPOSED OF.

FOXCROFT, April 25, 1883.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

Some weeks since the idea was suggested in some newspaper that chapter 183 of the Public Laws of 1883, authorized the destruction of sick or disabled human beings. Another paper called the act "unique." Other Journals, in and out of the State, have rung various changes. Some three weeks since I received a letter from a respectable gentleman, making inquiries. I called his attention to chapter 36 of the Public Laws of 1875, showing that the "destruction" section and the "definition" section were both embraced therein. These sections in this particular were but a transcript of the legislation of 1875.

I could not believe that any editor seriously raised this point. The absurdity of this attack upon this legislation, however seems not to have been seen by other editors, who assumed that something "new" had been discovered. The statute of 1883 contains some "new" provisions against pigeon shooting, and some salutary changes in other respects, but it in no way introduced any new principle in relation to the destruction of "any animal found abandoned and not properly cared for, appearing in the judgment of two reputable persons" called to view the same "to be diseased or injured past recovery for any useful purpose." Nor was there any change in 1883 from the legislation of 1875, in the definition of the word "animal."

That this statute might not be regarded as a travesty upon all decent legislation, might prima facie be inferred from the fact that the Legislature of 1875, was, at least, an average in ability with other Maine Legislatures. In that year Hon. Edmund F. Webb was President of the Senate, in which at the same time, as Senators, were the eminent lawyers, Lucilius A. Emery, John P. Donworth, John P. Swasey, Enoch Foster, Jr., and others, as well as scholars and legislators like Hons. W. J. Corthell, S. A. Holbrook, and many others. Hon. W. W. Thomas, Jr., was Speaker of the House. Among the members of the popular branch were ex-Judge R. P. Tapley and lawyers Nathan Cleaves, F. A. Wilson, S. D. Leavitt, Llewellyn Powers, and other legislators of great experience, and the act was approved by Gov. Nelson Dingley, Jr.

These sections stood eight years on our statute books, unchallenged by all subsequent legislatures, by courts, Judge Goddard reporting the revision, members of the bar and an intelligent community. These statements are not given as the sole evidence that the bill is free from the imputation of containing the obnoxious feature "which authorizes the slaughter of disabled, enfeebled or aged people." Aside from all these, there is no possible way in which, when the whole act is viewed in the light of legal construction, a conclusion so absurd and ridiculous could be drawn, as that the act of 1883, or its prototype, in this respect, chapter 36, Public Laws of 1875, sections 2 and 5, would authorize the taking of human life.

I do not know by whom the act of 1883 was compiled and drawn, but was informed that the person by whom it was done had submitted it to able legal counsel before it was presented to the legislature. If the present legislature was in fault, it was in not correcting an error of the legislature of 1875. But neither legislature committed an error in this respect. No court that should ever consider the whole act, would for a moment, listen to the proposition that such senseless construction could be put upon it. Such proposition does not call for argument or citation of authorities. The general and special purposes of the act are manifest in every section, and throughout, in language which cannot be misunderstood. The bill when before the committee was vigorously opposed by counsel as able as any in the State, on the sole ground of the "pigeon shooting" provision, it being admitted that the bill, in other respects, was not only proper but desirable.

Now an up-river correspondent of one of the papers in your city has discovered another mare's-nest in the "Act for the prevention of cruelty." He apparently thinks that this act which was approved March 9, 1883, repeals section 4 of chapter 142 of Public Laws of 1883 which permits the killing of dogs in pursuit of moose, deer or caribou, because the last named act was approved before the act for the prevention of cruelty, to wit, on February 24, 1883. But on reflection he will see that both acts took effect on April 15, 1883. See chapter 251, Public Laws, 1883. An act has no validity till the full time has expired for it to take effect. Both acts became law at the same moment. The words of an act are considered as spoken at the time when the act takes effect. Jackman vs. Garland, 64 Maine Reports 133. But there is no conflict between the two statutes.

By reference to Statutes of 1821, chapter 174, section 2; Revised Statutes of 1840, chapter 40, section 2; Revised Statutes of 1857, chapter 30, section 2; Revised Statutes of 1871, chapter 30, section 2, it will be seen that the law, for sixty-two years, has permitted any one to kill a dog found wounding, worrying or killing any domestic animals out of the enclosure or immediate care of the owner of the dog. Since 1821, Public Laws, chapter 4, the cruelly killing of any horse or other animal has been punishable criminally, yet during all these sixty-two years nobody has ever suggested that there was a conflict between these two sets of provisions, or that one repealed the other. The statute does not punish a person for doing what he is thereby permitted to do. It is only "unjustifiable" acts that are prohibited. So the law for the protection of moose, deer and caribou, is in full force in all its parts.

Since 1869, Maine has taken high ground on this humane subject, to the great credit of the State.

I have written as though these attacks in relation to "definitions" had been seriously made; but there is no doubt the "knowing ones" understand their effusions as constituting a rare joke to take root in the minds of the credulous, who have had no special opportunity to examine the laws. That the authors themselves were ignorant in assuming that these provisions originated with the present legislature is quite apparent. Truly,

A. G. LEBROKE.

A SUGGESTIVE TICKET AND PLATFORM.

[From the Philadelphia Press, Rep.]

Democratic ticket for 1884: President, Carter Watterson, of Kentucky; Vice President, Henri Harrison, of Illinois. Platform: Everything free, including gin and chin.

The Legislature of Michigan enacted a law which provides for the establishment of wills during the lifetime of testators, thus putting an end to all post mortem contests. All persons interested in a will, under this enactment, appears before the probate judge at a specified time to show cause, if any exist, why the will should not be probated.

STUDYING OUT OF SCHOOL.

The effect upon children of studying out of school hours, and the extent to which it may be allowable, have been the subject of considerable discussion in the press of several States recently. The Philadelphia North American contended that study should be entirely confined to school hours, and upon being antagonized insists that while its statement may have been too sweeping it was in the main right, and it quotes the following from a Boston writer who evidently speaks from experience:

"It is the work out of school, rather than the work in school, that is objectionable. Most children under twelve should have no tasks at home. A little easy memorizing, that may take twenty or thirty minutes; a bit of interesting investigation or experiment; something that shall seem like play rather than work; this is as much as ought to be put upon any child of this age as extra work. From twelve to fifteen, light home tasks may well be given to all but the least vigorous; but the tasks should be such, that only the slowest students will have to study on them more than an hour, and this limit of time should be set for all. At sixteen, children of settled vigor may begin doing harder work out of school,—work that may sometimes occupy an hour and a half, or even more. But children of this age should be watched with especial care; they are ambitious; they feel that their school days are nearly over, and they are becoming so mature that they see more and more clearly the meaning and value of their studies, and so are prone to spend too much time over the studies, themselves, and the reading the studies suggest."

The St. Croix Courier says: Judge Libbey addressed the Grand Jury, after that body had assembled in Calais, on Tuesday morning. He impressed upon the minds of the Jurymen the importance of doing their duty, unbiased by prejudice, sympathy, or any other influence, and trusted that in dealing with the cases that no verdict would be rendered which might bring reproach upon the law of the land. He wished the jury to consider the fact that intoxication does not excuse any man from not receiving the full penalty which the law inflicts for the crime committed. This stern but just charge by an eminent judge is one of the strongest temperance lectures that can be suggested. It leaves the mind of the drinking man impressed with the fact that whatever act he may commit while under the influence of rum, he must suffer the full penalty of the law the same as if in full possession of all his senses, and it should be a signal of warning to all who put the fatal glass to their lips.

The Mystery of the Law!

A lady from the rural district was somewhat astonished at being accosted on Main street last week by one of our policemen and told with that rare grace and charming "bonhomie," (one of Aristotle's pet words) characteristic of the "force," that, "I beg pardon, madam, but we have special orders from the Mayor to remove all obstructions from the side walk, and unless you choose to continue your peripatetic rambles in the street, I shall be obliged to convey you to the Inquisitorial Halls of Justice. She had on a pair of those "widely known boots," known in every metropolis from Oldtown to Hampden, made from the hides of the Brazilian Dodo, known as the dongolas; hence the policeman's request. If anybody cares to subject herself to such indignities as the above, we would say to them that we have the boots named and our heart revolts at asking $5 for them, as some do; $4.50 is all our conscience will allow us to ask. If, however, you want a boot with some style about it, you will shun these goods and wear none but the old reliable

BURT BOOTS,

They have no equals yet. A certain dealer who is trying to make people think he has the best shoe for gentlemen's wear, speaks of them as "covering a good deal of ground." Quite right; and could the order of things be inverted, and the wearer walk on his hands, the demand for umbrellas would be light. When you want a really fine shoe, as good as any custom-made, get obtainable of us only, and when you want any first-class article in the whole array of shoe dealer's goods, you will find it with us. "A shocking bad hat" indeed, is a poor silk one, but no such language can be truthfully applied to the hats we furnish to measure; they are conceded by all to be perfection itself. They have an air, gloss and gossamer lightness that the clumsy hand-made hat cannot acquire.

FATAL ACCIDENT.
A Man Killed by Rocks Thrown by an Explosion.

FALL RIVER, April 26. A thousand people assembled over the ruins of the Flint Mill this evening to witness an attempt to blow a massive granite tower that has been standing since the fire. The attempt was not successful, the charge having only the effect of blowing out some heavy pieces of stone into the crowd, killing James Maguire and creating a small panic. The rocks were thrown 200 yards. Fortunately no other serious casualty occurred.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26. At 12 o'clock Mr. Alexander Sullivan, at the request of the committee of seven and in pursuance of the official call, called the Land League Convention to order and spoke at some length.

The official call was then read by Rev. Dr. Betts, who presided over the last National Convention in Chicago. Rev. Morris J. Downey, of Chicago, was unanimously elected temporary chairman.

After transaction of some matters of unimportance the convention took a recess during which strong dissatisfaction was expressed by many delegates, especially by some from Illinois and New York, with the methods by which the temporary organization was effected and debate shut off by the rules adopted this morning.

On reassembling Mr. Fitch, of Arizona, stated that the Committee on Credentials had passed on the credentials of 704 new delegates, a few yet remaining undisposed of. The report of the Committee on Credentials was accepted and the committee discharged. Mr. M. V. Gannon, of Iowa moved the adoption of a resolution of respect and sympathy for the mother of Miss Fanny Parnell. Amid cheering the resolution was declared carried.

A motion for a committee of one from each State and Territory and Canada on resolutions was carried; also for a similar committee to frame rules and a platform for the new Irish National Land League. Another recess was then taken. At 6.35 the convention was reconvened, Mr. Fitch, Chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization, then presented for the permanent chairman Hon. M. A. Foren, of Ohio, with Vice Presidents and Secretaries and the report was accepted.

Father Dorney, on realizing the chair, made a few remarks and then presented Hon Martin A. Foren, Congressman-elect from Ohio. Mr. Forren made a lengthy speech and then ordered the Secretary to call the roll, in order that the chairman of of each State and territorial delegation might name the member of his delegation agreed on by them to serve on the committee on platform organization.

Father Dorney read a cablegram from London, from Charles Stewart Parnell, stating the impossibility of his being present, and urging harmony and that the platform be so framed as to enable us to continue to accept help from America and at the same time avoid affording a pretext to the British Government for entirely suppressing the National movement in Ireland.

The convention then adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning. The Committee on Resolutions met immediately afterward.

The Land League Convention of yesterday is not yet definitely adjourned, but the results of to-night's committee work will determine whether the committee of seven appointed yesterday by the Land League Convention shall pronounce that body adjourned sine die or reconvene it.

BOLD BURGLARS
A Series of Daring Robberies at Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., April 26. Richmond has been thrown into a flutter of excitement, and its police utterly confounded, by a series of robberies, the boldest of which has been unparalleled. In each instance the house has been entered by false keys, and bedchambers entered by turning the keys in the locks from the outside with nippers. The thieves then enter the rooms of the sleeping parties and boldly take articles therefrom. The series of depredations has continued for five weeks. Among others, the chamber of Miss Mary Hampton, daughter of Senator Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, and who was known to have splendid diamonds, was ransacked, and a gold watch and her two bracelets taken. She had carelessly thrown her diamonds in an old cigar box, and they were overlooked, although her jewelry case was rummaged and money taken. Mrs. ex-President Tyler is another victim. Her bedchamber was entered and a fine gold cross, the gift of her husband, was among the articles of jewelry taken.

The boldness of the depredation and the inability to get any clew to the depredators resulted in the placing of a double force of police in Capt. Parster's district, where the robberies have mainly occurred. Tuesday he was made the victim of the boldest of the saturnalia of burglaries. While he was at breakfast, at 7:30 o'clock his chamber was entered and ransacked, money and jewelry being stolen. At 6 P. M., as his daughter, aged 16, was going to her room, she was confronted by two men with faces blacked. One of them choked her, while the other, presenting a pistol at her head, said: "If you say a word I'll blow your head off," and he jerked a gold chain from her neck and a gold ring from her finger. She, nevertheless, screamed and they ran off. The next evening, at 5 o'clock, the same young lady was in the fourth story of the house, in her room, when she was suddenly seized from behind, her hands tied with a towel and her mouth gagged.

She became hysterical, and in her struggles the gags were loosened, and her screams brought two gentlemen from down stairs. In the same mysterious way as heretofore the scoundrel disappeared. Capt. Parster has been particularly ... in attempting to arrest the burglars, and it is supposed that these deeds are prompted by a spirit of revenge. The excitement is unprecedented. Many women and children dare not remain in their houses alone and upon sick women the fright has been disastrous, and it is feared in several instances fatal. The police are arresting all men found on the streets after 11 o'clock, and making them prove their identity. The gun stores have sold out their stock of firearms entirely, and also bolts and patent locks. Several have telegraphed North for supplies of pistols to be sent by return express.

RAILROAD MATTERS
Chicago & Northwestern and Northern Pacific Talking Consolidation.

WASHINGTON, April 26. Quite a flurry has been caused by a rumor that the leading rulers of the Chicago & Northwestern and Northern Pacific railroads were considering the proposition to consolidate their properties under one management. It was treated as a very deep secret by certain gentlemen who are popularly believed to know what is going on in connection with the roads which are affected by Congressional legislation, and only the most vague assertions were made about it. It is impossible at this point to either confirm or deny the story, because there are no offices of either corporation here. It is stated that the arrangement is forced upon both companies by their programme of operations. The Northern Pacific must get to Chicago over a track of its own. Duluth cannot supply the requirements of a terminus for a great transcontinental line. On the other hand, the Chicago & Northwestern people are wanting to stretch out and are ambitious to reach the Pacific. Such a combination as could be effected by the consolidation of these properties would control the northwestern grain traffic, and divert the China trade to its Pacific terminus from San Francisco.

MASSACHUSETTS.
A Meeting of Creditors.

SPRINGFIELD, April 26. Ex-Lt. Gov. Knight, of East Hampton, has called a meeting of his creditors in this city to-morrow afternoon at two. It is doubted if he can be present, however, for while he is recovering from his recent illness he is still quite weak.

The Mayor's Nominations.

BOSTON, April 26. The Common Council to-night confirmed the Mayor's appointments of Michael Curran, for Police Commissioner, and Henry Longley, for Health Commissioner, but laid over till the second meeting in May the nominations of Simmons, Hobbs and Blake, for Water Commissioners, the question being upon the adjustment of salaries.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.
Loss of the Steamer Valletta.

HALIFAX, April 26. A telegram from Liverpool, N. S., states that the steamer Valletta, which went ashore on Black rock yesterday, struck at four o'clock during a heavy snow storm. Her starboard side was broken in and her ... house and saloon carried away. She will be a complete wreck. The steamer's ... were saved by ... from the ... at Liverpool ... [illegible]

A Counterfeit Bank Note.

WASHINGTON, April 26. A photographic counterfeit of the new $5 National bank note was received at the Treasury Department this forenoon for redemption. It was sent to the Treasury by the Broadway National Bank, of New York, and is a counterfeit on the First National Bank of Milwaukee, Wis. The facts were at once reported to the officers of the Secret Service. It is regarded as a very imperfect counterfeit and the Treasury officials are surprised that it should have passed through the hands of the bank officers without being detected. It is the first counterfeit of the kind that has been discovered.

An Interesting Case.

The Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims to-day heard the opening argument in the case of Geo. F. Bratt against the United States, which is a claim growing out of the capture of the vessel Ike Davis by Confederate officers. It involves the general question as to what constitutes a Confederate cruiser within the meaning of the law. Nathaniel Wilson made an argument to-day on behalf of claimants. He will conclude to-morrow.

A Merited Recognition.

By direction of the President the State Department has procured a handsome gold watch and chain to be presented to Capt. Geo. A. Hatfield, of the British bark T. S. Smith, of Parrsboro, N. S., in appreciation of his humanity and courage in the rescue of the crew of the sinking American schooner D. Talbot; also a gold watch and chain to be presented to Capt. George Dunn, of the British steamer Glenhervie, of Leith, in connection with his service in saving the crew of the American ship H. S. Gregory, at sea, Feb. 16, 1882; and a gold medal and $50 to James G. Young, second officer of the Glenhervie. The State Department has also been directed to present gold medals to Commander R. H. Thornton, commanding H. M. S. Kingfisher, for aid rendered to the distressed American steamer Emma Hayward, and to Capt. James W. East, commanding H. M. S. Comus, for this efforts to succor the crew of the American bark Malleville, on the coast of Vancouver Island, Oct. 10th, 1882.

The Star Route Trial.

Mr. Ker continued his review of the evidence to-day and had not concluded when the Court adjourned.

AMERICAN GLASS IN EUROPE
American Manufacturers Competing with the European Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 26. It was scarcely to be expected that American manufactures of different varieties of glass products had become so skilled that American glass ware had become a serious competitor of the European product in Europe. The recent reports of our consuls on the subject of the glass manufactures of Europe, however, indicate that this is the fact, and that if American manufacturers will adopt some of the simple suggestions contained in these reports they can be insured of a very valuable European trade. Among these suggestions are that the tastes of European purchasers shall be more carefully considered and the goods manufactured to suit them; that the goods be much more carefully packed, and that better arrangements be made for introducing them. Consul Walker, writing from Paris, gives the following illustration of the success of a Boston manufacturer in imitating the finest grades of French manufacture and in practically driving the latter from the United States market. Consul Walker says:

"Four or five years ago one of the largest glass manufacturers in France, the Compagnie des Cristalleries de Baccarat, put upon the market a new fashion of vases made of colored glass, the designs of which were very expensive. These vases had a large sale both in France and in the United States, especially in the latter country. A few months later a gentleman from Boston purchased at the warehouse of this company in Paris samples of each of these vases. After a few months the sale of the French article ceased in the United States, and it was ascertained that the Boston buyer, being a manufacturer, had copied the designs of the vases in question, and thereby secured the whole American trade, to the serious injury of the company referred to above. The same company complains that many patterns of their stem ware have been duplicated in the United States. Similar complaints come from other manufacturers. I am quite aware that this species of imitation is within the limits of manufacturing competition, but think it proper to say that the cases mentioned have created a prejudice against American glass products, among both manufacturers and dealers in France, which will make the introduction of American ware more difficult than it might otherwise be."

A MYSTERY.
A Singular Disappearance—Suspicion of Murder.

SAVANNAH, April 26. A most mysterious triple disappearance has just developed here. On the 10th inst. John Reinken, a well-to-do grocer, was missed. Reinken's brother and John Cordes, who were employed by him in business, explained that John had gone to Catoosa Springs to seek relief from a painful swelling of the leg.

Since the 10th inst., Reinken and Cordes have run the business and nothing strange ... of John's absence, until Tuesday morning, when the store was not opened as usual, but neither Richard nor Cordes were to be found. The police have taken charge of the premises and ugly rumors are afloat. The men lived above the store and were unmarried. A family living in the building ... say they heard ... being brought down stairs and put in a wagon at midnight.

On Tuesday morning the men were gone. A negro claims to have tracked a wagon to the ... bank. The supposition is that Reinken was murdered and his body put into the trunk. No traces of the men can be found. The theory that Reinken ran away to escape creditors is ridiculed by large wholesale houses with which he dealt. The store contains $2,000 worth of stock; the lease is worth $600, and ... accounts on the books ... nearly $3,000. The total ... against him will not exceed $2,200. It is estimated that he cleared $5,000 a year from his business. It is learned that ... brother and the clerk told contradictory stories explaining his absence. Reinken was 47 years old, and was exceedingly popular in this city. There is no evidence that he ever left the city, and it is now learned that Catoosa Springs is not open for the season yet.

R.—called the Tilden Post, and disbanded about 1870—reorganized under a different name, as the laws now forbid the naming of a Post after a living person. PITTSFIELD ITEMS. Our Pittsfield correspondent writes: Mr. J. C. Connor is soon to commence the erection of a building on one of his lots on Main street. It will be 54x77 and will contain two stores on the first floor and offices and tenements above. He has not yet decided whether to build of wood or brick.——Mr. E. M. Shaw will build a wooden building on Park st. It will probably contain a harness shop and printing office on the first floor, with tenements on the second.——Several dwelling houses will probably be erected the coming season.——The all absorbing theme in Pittsfield now, is the coming dedication of the new brick block, on May 15th.——The village schools commenced last Monday. Thomas Dinning has charge of the Grammar School, and Ida M. Holmes of the Primary.

THE WOODBURY. By invitation of Captain Abbey, Collector Davis paid a visit yesterday to the U. S. Revenue Cutter Woodbury, and was politely escorted by the officers on an informal tour of inspection of the staunch and trim vessel. The steamer comes out of her severe winter's service in remarkably good order, and the neatness of everything on board speaks highly of the discipline. Capt. Abbey has just reason for an honorable pride in the record of the Woodbury, which since he came on this coast, less than two years ago, has rendered assistance to no less than 105 vessels, with property aggregating $1,750,000 in value. The past winter has been exceptionally severe on the Maine coast and since December 1st the cutter has rendered aid to 93 vessels, with over a million and a half of property. Some idea of her continuous service during the most inclement season may be given in the fact that the cutter's log book shows over twenty-one hundred miles of cruising during the month of January. The services of the cutter have been highly complimented by the Chief of the Bureau, and are appreciatively recognized all along our coast.

EXCLUSION OF IMPROPER ARTICLES FROM THE MAILS. Superintendent Thompson, of the Mail Service, is determined to break up as much as possible the practice of sending dangerous and unmailable articles through the mails. With this object in view he has issued the following circular to the Division Railway Mail Superintendents: Complaint has been made to this office that samples of fertilizers, ink powders and other unmailable articles are being sent through the mails from many of the larger post offices, in violations of the regulations. In the hurry of making up and distributing the mails, it may not always be possible to scrutinize every package so as to exclude everything unmailable, but it is believed that no business man would knowingly offer anything for mailing forbidden by the regulations. Superintendents are therefore requested to confer with the postmasters in their respective divisions to the best method of exercising a more rigid scrutiny of all third class matter. It would be well for the postmaster to call the attention of the public through the press and otherwise to the class of matter excluded from the mail under the regulations so that all may understand that it is in their own interest that the department is trying by every means to exclude from the mail all matter that might under any circumstances damage other articles in the mail, or the person of those handling them.

A mass temperance meeting was held in Norombega Hall last evening under the auspices of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance. At eight o'clock when the meeting commenced, an audience of several hundred was in attendance. The meeting was called to order by John S. Kimball, Esq., who introduced as presiding officer G. W. P., P. M. Fogler, of Franklin Division, of Augusta. In assuming the duties of chairman, Mr. Fogler addressed the meeting briefly on the objects of the order of Sons of Temperance. It has done much to elevate humanity and in the face of great opposition its members have never yielded their devotion to principle.

ADDRESS BY HON. NEAL DOW.

Hon. Neal Dow was next introduced and proceeded to address the meeting at some length. The Sons of Temerance is a working order. Its specific object is to redeem the people from intemperance. The order is not confined to Maine, but exists in every State in the Union and also in the British Provinces and in other countries. When the subject of widespread intemperance comes up the great question arises what are we going to do about it. A great English statesman has said that the world suffers more from intemperance than from war, pestilence and famine, those three great scourges of mankind. Although intemperance has been greatly reduced in Maine, the speaker thought the same was true here. Bangor is a sore and dark place to us temperance people. It is a very serious obstacle to the spread of temperance in other sections of the country. You don't take temperance papers here much and you don't hear much temperance from the pulpits. I am glad to come here to appeal to your hearts.

Grog shops live only by changing good citizens into bad ones, by turning happy homes into wretched ones and by making your own sons and daughters drunkards. Now, here in Bangor you allow this vile traffic to go on. The whole conduct of the people of Bangor appears to be that you don't believe in a God or in a future punishment, and don't care for your sons and daughters. I expect the people to hiss me soon. It is my purpose to impress upon the good people of Bangor, the evil of the traffic you permit being carried on. I know there have been womanly protests against this outrage, but there have been no bold and manly protests. Now, regarding the prohibitory law, it is not our province to decide whether it is a wise one, but while it remains a law it should be enforced and, city officials who have taken their oaths of office have no right to refuse to enforce this statute. If the Bible be true the liquor traffic is the great obstacle to the spread of the Gospel. Yet we see many professed Christians voting the grogshops up and the people down. Intemperance inflicts more mischief to the people than all other crimes put together. Men of Bangor you allow a crime that is worse than murder, and yet there are men calling themselves Christians, who will vote to uphold this state of things. I judge men by what they do and not by what they say. In Portland we hunt grogshops with ferrets. You men of Bangor, what do you do. By your deeds and actions you say here are our sons; make drunkards of them.

Do you think I do not know why you allow all this? I do know. It is because your grog shops help the Republican party. There was a time when the Republican party meant something, but that time has gone by. You are willing to risk everything for the Republican party. I am a Republican, but I am a temperance man first. I attempt to keep track of politics. What is now up between the Republican and Democratic parties? There is no prominent issue between them at present and the temperance question is the great subject of the future. Thirty years ago the Democratic party in Maine established themselves on a rum platform and we overthrew them so thoroughly that nothing Democratic has come to the surface since except a small bubble of sulphuretted hydrogen in the shape of Garcelon. You allow this business to continue here because you believe it will inure to the benefit of the Republican party. But here the Republicans make their mistake. The rum vote naturally gravitates in another quarter and the Republicans can't expect its help.

The Republican party will go down like the Whig party and another party will rise from its ruins and come to the front. Republican office holders are now attempting to stem the tide by securing rum votes. Two years ago the Republicans nominated a candidate for Governor who was objectionable to us and we defeated him and will do so again. Men of Bangor, we entreat you to arouse yourselves and bring about a change in the condition of affairs in your city. During the address the speaker narrated many personal incidents and was frequently applauded.

MR. OSGOOD'S REMARKS

Mr. J. K. Osgood, of Gardiner, followed Mr. Dow in brief but earnest remarks. The speaker stated several years had passed since he had addressed a Bangor audience. When last I was here this hall was crowded and Mr. Joshua Nye was the speaker. I question whether there is another town, city or hamlet in New England which would not greet Mr. Dow with a larger audience than is assembled here to-night. I have tried to reconcile this but have not been successful. While laboring in the cause of temperance in other portions of New England the reports from Bangor have made my cheeks burn. I am a reformed man and it is my custom to speak on the moral side of the temperance question. Drunkenness is the greatest curse which infests the world. What shall we do to drive it out of Bangor? It is a stumbling block in the way of temperance all over the land.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Journal says: R. F. Foss, Esq., and wife, locked up their house, No. 27, Pleasant street, Auburn, and went to church at half past ten o'clock Sunday forenoon. When they returned, they found the house had been rummaged and robbed. The thief or thieves had completely stripped the pantry, taking Mrs. Foss's Sunday dinner and all the cooked food she had on hand. They also stole Mr. Foss's overcoat and a few small articles. The entrance was effected through the stable and back door. The lock was picked and the key was knocked out on the inside. Policeman Maxwell found foot prints leading to the house but no other clue.

The Journal says: Dennis F. O'Farrell attempted suicide by hanging, at the Lewiston police station, Saturday evening. O'Farrell has been on a protracted drunk for a number of months. A week ago Saturday, he was arrested for drunkenness, was before the Court, fined, committed, and released after a few hours' stay in jail by payment of his fine. Saturday last, he was arrested and put in the station. At about ten o'clock Sunday evening, City Marshal Metcalf was preparing to close up the station, put out the unnecessary lights and go home. O'Farrell was occupying cell No. 2, and was groaning terribly. The marshal had heard him groaning for five minutes or so, but had paid no attention. The groans became intensified into gurgles and chokings and became imbued with a tone of deeper suffering. There happened to be something in them that arrested the marshal's attention. Unlocking the cell door he looked in. O'Farrell was hanging from the top bar of the cell door. He had his coat off and his suspenders tied around his neck and over the bar above. The marshal is of the opinion that in a few minutes more O'Farrell would have been a dead man. The fellow was evidently in his last struggles.

Aroostook.

The Pioneer says: A young man named Frazier, supposed to be implicated in the recent burning of Byron's buildings in Linneus, was arrested and committed, last Saturday.

Thos. Leston, of South Richmond, N. B., at work in the woods on Monday of last week, was struck by a long splinter breaking his left leg below the knee.

Cumberland.

Thomas Tash, Esq., has been elected Superintendent of the Portland schools, at a salary of $2,050.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Portland Water Company was held, Tuesday. It was voted to mortgage the works to R. H. Davies and Francis Fessenden, as trustees, for $1,400,000 of bonds at five per cent. interest. Class A of these bonds amounts to $200,000. These will be used in funding the floating debt of the company and paying the cost of extension and construction of the conduit. The balance of the bonds, $1,200,000, divided into classes B, C and D, will be held strictly for the payment of the present outstanding bonds of the company which are just equal to this amount.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Baker celebrated their golden wedding at their residence on Pleasant street, Portland, Tuesday. There was a large attendance of friends, many beautiful gifts were received, and a delightful evening enjoyed.

Kennebec.

Rev. A. H. Hall of Meriden, Conn., who recently received a call from the South Congregationalist church in Augusta, has decided not to accept. The members of his church so earnestly desired him to remain as their pastor, that he could but accede to their wishes.

The Journal says the Haynes & DeWitt Ice Co. shipped the first ice forwarded from the Kennebec river this season, per schooner "City of Augusta." The company has already shipped 2,000 tons and will continue to ship until cold weather sets in. Their ice goes to Baltimore, Philadelphia and Norfolk, where the company has retail establishments.

Mrs. Hannah Bailey, of Winthrop, widow of the late Moses Bailey, Esq., is well known as one of the most generous ladies residing in Kennebec county. Recently she made a gift of $1,000 to the Friends' School at Providence R. I., and many people who, through misfortune or otherwise, have fallen into indigent circumstances, can testify to her charitable deeds. The lady has applications from many different sections of the country, asking for help. Recently she received a letter from a man in Kentucky soliciting the sum of $250 for the purpose, as he said, of sending his son to college. A while ago she presented a woman down in North Carolina with money to buy a stove. Lately Mrs. Bailey had a letter from the same woman asking for money to buy a cow.

About three o'clock Saturday afternoon, the farm house of Edward Fossett located near Gatchell's Corner, Vassalboro, was discovered to be in flames and the building was shortly burned to the ground. Nearly all the furniture in the house was saved, although somewhat damaged. Loss $1,600, no insurance.

Oxford.

Work on the materials of the new Congregational church at East Sumner has commenced, and probably ere the year closes, Sumner will have five church buildings where her people can attend services on each Sabbath.

A sad accident occurred at Huse's dowel factory, Sumner on Tuesday, by which Mr. Sidney H. Monk lost all his fingers on his left hand. He began work for the firm that morning and had not worked two hours when in some way his hand came in contact with a circular saw with the result above stated. The mill hands made up a purse of nearly $25 for Mr. Monk, who has a large family to care for. Mr Huse says this is the first serious accident that has occurred for the seventeen years that he has been in the mill business.

On Sunday, April 8th, Thomas Manson, of Oxford, a promising lad of sixteen, had a severe attack of bleeding at the nose. About four o'clock, Monday, it broke out again continuing until about half past eight Tuesday morning at three o'clock it began again, and a physician was sent for. The most powerful styptics were used, but the bleeding could not be stopped until about nine the next morning—bleeding nearly twenty-three hours. At that time the patient was very much exhausted, and his hands and feet were cold as marble. He seemed to rally a little at first, under the influence of powerful stimulants, but soon began to sink again, and died a few hours after.

Sagadahoc.

Mr. Frank Lockery, the master section hand on the K. & L. R. R., was quite seriously injured Tuesday. He was leaning against the rear end of the tender of the shifting engine on the K. & L. R. R. when the engine was reversed and started to back up. He was unable to escape from his position, and being thrown down, his leg was seriously injured, the bone it is said being broken above the knee.

The Times says: Monday evening, as Mr. Beals, a man employed in the Bath Iron Works of T. W. Hyde, was going down home he was made the object of a cowardly assault. When just this side of the Methodist church he noticed a number of rowdies who appeared to be engaged in a squabble among themselves. He paid no attention to them however, as he thought that one of them was intoxicated and the others trying to get him home. When he came up to them they all four seized him and began to assault him. Two of the rascals were subsequently arrested.

WHAT CROPS SHALL WE PLANT?

If we have not, it is high time for us to decide upon our farm operations for the coming year, to lay our plans for work and prepare for their execution.

There are many arguments in favor of specialties in agriculture, that are numerous and strong; yet such are the conditions in Maine that mixed husbandry always will be largely followed. The variations in the soil even on small farms is so great that the markets demand any and everything we can raise, and the seasons are so capricious that only a few localities or farms can be profitable, devoted to one single line of husbandry. The farmer should raise everything that he can use in his family that his soil and climate will allow.

The vegetable and fruit garden will usually allow much enlargement on most farms before a limit of profit for family use will be reached, for a little surplus will always find a good market. Economy, health and comfort all unite in demanding a full supply of vegetables and fruits in their season for the year. It will cost the farmer less to have them than anybody else, and with milk and butter, poultry and eggs at first cost, to say nothing of his other meat supply, his grocery and provision bills will be moderate, and he may live generously, too. There is not much account taken of these things, yet, in a moderate family, from five dollars to a thousand dollars may safely be credited to the farm that provides for all its wants.

The dairy promises to be the leading farm industry. Grass is the staple crop of Maine, and we must not grow other crops at the sacrifice of the grass crop. It is a poor operation to plow up and crop pastures or mowing fields, if the subsequent grass crop is reduced. Most farms furnish fields that, even considering grass as the best crop, may profitably be put to the common crops of corn, potatoes, oats or rye.

The labor on the farm should be so arranged that men and teams will never be overworked, yet always with something to do, and it will be found that many crops that cannot be raised at a profit as a specialty, by working it in with the other crops, will give a small margin of profit at least to the farmer. Terrible Suffering.

Kidney and Bladder Complaints of Many Years Duration—His Word as Good as Gold—Case of City Assessor Francis Gomard, 89 Sumner St., Lowell, Mass.

"His word is as good as a bank note at any bank in Lowell, and I know it," was the opinion of a well known citizen in speaking of City Assessor Francis Gomard. Your reporter found Mr. Gomard at his pleasant home, which, with many others, adorns Sumner street and fronts the charming park of South Common. Mr. Gomard said, "I had been, as many of my friends in Lowell know, a great sufferer from kidney and urinary troubles for a long time. My physician said it was the result of diseased kidneys and enlargement of the prostate gland. I had suffered terribly, and although my doctor's treatment had been the best which this city afforded, I got no better. I said finally, 'Doctor, it's no use. You have done all that is in your power to do, I know that; but I must get help from some other source or die.' Finally I was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, a medicine which had been recommended very highly for kidney diseases. I received help at once. It has acted like a charm with me. Why so? Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is an honest preparation, and I know it. I didn't think anything would help me, but this has given me better health than any medicine ever prescribed for me. I have recommended it to very many of my friends in the city of Lowell, and with the same result. They think there is nothing like Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY."

What Mr Gomard says can be depended upon, as any one acquainted with the gentleman knows.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure those diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."

148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882.

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

RUBBER

BELTING.

Important to all who use Belting.

We have just patented a new article in Rubber Belting which is sold under the name of GIANT BELTING.

This Belting is put with the usual plies of Duck and Rubber, and, before putting on the outside cover, it is stitched in seams one inch apart, with cotton cord, which has a pulling strength of fifty pounds. It is then stretched in its plastic state, drawing the plies so close together that with the stitching cord with which it is stitched, material strength is added to the belt, and the stitches are so drawn into the plastic rubber, that they cannot wear off on the outside. The outside cover is then put on seamless, so that it cannot open, as is the case of Rubber belting made in the ordinary way, and the plies being so firmly stitched as well as frictioned together, that the belt cannot separate as many belts made in the ordinary way will, after being used for a time, especially when run at great speed or in damp places.

We particularly call the attention of all mill owners to this belt as being in the end the cheapest belt they can buy, while the first cost is only about ten per cent. more than belting made in the ordinary way. We believe it will wear more than double the length of time. For heavy main belts you will find it superior to anything made. It is also superior for Endless Belts, as we stitch the splice in such a way that it cannot separate.

Try our Giant Belts. We will warrant satisfaction.
